

Enrollment Status and Adjusting Aid

Financial Aid will be adjusted based on student's enrollment status, up through the 50% point of each term. After this point, financial aid will not be adjusted unless it falls into one of the following categories:

1. The student is enrolled in a late starting class that begins after the 50% point and drops the class before it starts. Students are not entitled to receive financial aid for classes they have not attended and their financial aid will be adjusted accordingly.
2. The student is dropped from a class by their instructor for non-attendance. Students are not entitled to receive aid for classes they have not attended and their financial aid will be adjusted accordingly.
3. If the Instructor drops a student in error and agrees to reinstate the student in the same class and section, financial aid will be adjusted accordingly. Please note: if a student enrolls in a different class from the one they were dropped in error, their financial aid will not be adjusted after the 50% point.
4. Students who drop all classes for the term between the 50% and the 60%, may have their aid adjusted depending on what they have earned through the Return of Title IV calculation. According to regulations, students have not earned 100% of their aid until the 60% point of the term.

Students who are receiving student loans and drop a class(es)

- Students may have their loans cancelled or adjusted if they are enrolled in less than six credit hours.
- If the student began attendance in six or more credit hours, and they received a portion or the entire loan, they are entitled to keep the amount already disbursed. However, no further disbursements will occur if they remain enrolled in less than six credit hours for that term and any remaining portions of the student loan(s) will be cancelled.
- If the student did not begin attendance in six or more credits when they received a portion or the entire loan, the loan(s) will be removed entirely for that term and no further disbursements will occur.
